Home

Latest Issue

From Previous Issue

Recent Articles

Mujtahidah Nusrat Beygum Amin and Makhzan al-Irfan: An Introduction to a Seminal Work of Female Qur'anic Exegesis Part 1

Ustadha Fatemah Meghji - October 21, 2025 Abstract This article explores the life and Qur'anic scholarship of Sayyidah Nusrat Beygum Amin (1895–1983), also known as Banu Amin, a pioneering female mujtahidah and...

The Role of Artificial Intelligence in Serving the School of Ahl al-Bayt

Sayyid Muneer al-Khabbaz - October 21, 2025

The responsibility of spreading goodness and truth, and of safeguarding the divine principles revealed to humanity, rests upon every believer. In every age, the...

"He Knows Best Those who are Guided" II: Three Stages of Convert Experience

Trenton Carl - October 21, 2025

In the first installment of this series, "He Knows Best Those who are Guided" I: A Typology of Convert Experience," I contend that the...

Digital Humanities and the Future of Islamic Studies

Mostafa Movahedifar - October 21, 2025

Introduction In recent years, Digital Humanities have emerged as a transformative field, merging the humanities—which I refer to as "traditional" in the context of this...

A Journey Through WF-AID's Fill My Cup and the Power of Breakfast Provision in the Global South

Abbas Merali - October 21, 2025

Introduction A balanced diet and the proper nutrition are fundamental necessities for young children to develop both mentally and physically. Despite this, one in four...

The Man Behind the Mantle: A Personal Glimpse into Mulla Asghar's Legacy

Hasnain Walji, Ph.D. - October 2, 2025

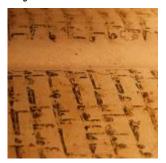

Forget the titles, tributes, and plaques; this article isn't about the Mulla Asghar immortalized in reports or etched into organizational history. What I wish...

"He Knows Best Those who are Guided" I: A Typology of Convert Experience

Trenton Carl - October 2, 2025

Cheerios hastily eaten in the predawn dark before the start of a Ramadan fast, only to break it alone over take-out. Attending a Muharram...

Challenges in Authenticating Hadith: The Science of Hadith

Siddiqa Valli - October 2, 2025

The science of hadith critically examines the sayings, actions, and tacit approvals of the Infallibles, ensuring their authenticity through rigorous methodologies. This science remains...

Layers of Meaning and Deeper Interpretations: Exploring Wujūh, the Mutashābihāt, and Ta'wīl of the Qur'ān

Mulla Muhsin al-Fayd al-Kashani - September 29, 2025

Muḥammad Muḥsin Al-Fayḍ Al-Kāshānī, the prolific Imāmī Shī'ī scholar and mystic-philosopher, opens his renowned tafsīr (Quranic exegesis) with twelve introductory sections that address foundational...

Childhood as a Formative and Integral Stage in Faith According to Islamic Psychology

Sayyid Sameer Ali - August 28, 2025

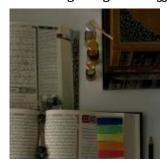

Childhood is a sacred and foundational stage in Islamic psychology, one that shapes the moral, spiritual, cognitive, and emotional development of an individual. Within...

Seeing Life through Sacred Eyes

David Coolidge - December 19, 2024

We often think of Islam as a tradition that tells us do certain "sacred" activities, such as going to hajj, and avoid other activities...

The Qur'an Speaks about Its People How Most of the Qur'an Is about the Family of the Prophet

Azhar Sheraze - December 18, 2024 By Muhammad Muḥsin al-Fayḍ al-Kāshānī Translated by Azhar Sheraze Tafs al-Ṣāfī is a profound and multilayered tafsīr (exegesis) of the Qur'an be Muhammad Muḥsin al-Fayḍ al-Kāshānī

